Project Management Consultancy of the Year:

For organisations who deliver projects, programmes and portfolios (P3M) either fully or in support of other organisations.

The APM judges are looking for the ways in which consultancies operate as P3M specialist organisations. How are you structured and how do you formulate strategy? What impact has P3M had on your client's culture? How have you developed your client's processes and implemented assurance? How have you formed teams, planned work and managed data and information? What training has been necessary and how has it been implemented in making changes to the client? What difference have the changes made to the client results or improvements in their operation?
