Roger	Atkinson	Fellow	Certification, qualifications and experience are all indications of knowledge and skills, however, it is my belief that it is just as important to keep that knowledge and those skills up to date and why I have been a member of APM for over 20 years and a committee member for 10 years to help support constant learning about PM.	My own experience of PM spans over 40 years, having developed a Police crime and criminals project and then 19 years working in and Project managing several MoD IS/IT projects. I've been guest Editor of the International Journal of Project Management and have both individual and shared publications in that journal. For the last 24 years I've held the post of Senior Academic in PM at Bournemouth University, at that time I've been external examiner for PM at Leeds, Lancaster and the OU Universities and Adjunct Professor at Lille. I give lectures at Bournemouth University on a taught MSc in PM and supervise masters and doctoral students, I have a PhD myself in Project Management. For 10 years I received several grants to run workshops and conferences in Excellence in Teaching and Learning for PM.	A few Hours.
Richard	Bonner	Full	I've spent nearly 20 years working in engineering and project /programme delivery roles and throughout that time I feel that I've benefitted greatly from my association with other PM's and using the	I enjoy mentoring and I have a wealth of practical experience in the creation (and deployment) of PM process.	2-3 hours	n/a
Neil	Budding	Full	Since moving to the area a few years ago I have enjoyed and benefited from the Wessex Branch events and getting to know the current committee. I volunteered to be a mentor for the branch Project Challenge last October and again, really enjoyed and benefited from the experience. I would like to see if I can extend this further by being part of the committee	First of all, I am a qualified and experienced Project Professional and currently running my own company and offering my services on a contract basis. My interest in Project Management goes beyond just the day job and after attending branch events over the last few years I'm looking to get more involved. I hope I can bring some enthusiasm to the committee and am prepared to get involved and help where I can. After taking a mentor role for the latest edition of the Project Challenge I would be interested in opportunities to helping those at the beginning of their project professional careers.	Depending on demand I can spare one evening during the week and some further time over weekends

David	Corbin	Full	Whilst my role at work is not locally focused, I live in Dorset and am based in Southampton and would like to start supporting the development of the P3M community more locally. Workwise, I am the Head of the PM Practice for WYG and lead a team of over 120 Consultant Project Managers. In that role, I am connected into the APM Education Group and have been actively promoting more engagement with the APM with my staff as well as securing formal APM PM qualifications. Recently I supported (and part sponsored) the Y&NL branch awards event where one of	In my role, I lead over 120 Project Managers so have a good insight to what makes PMs tick at different stages of their careers. I am a Practicing PM with over 15yrs experience across multiple sectors (mainly within infrastructure) I am committed to everything I choose to do. I am committed to L&D within the profession and helping to progress P3M as a profession	Variable. I can flex my diary and commitments to suit and my company is fully supportive of me supporting the branch.
