About APM

The Association for Project Management (APM), the chartered body for the project profession, is committed to developing and promoting project and programme management through its FIVE Dimensions of Professionalism. In 2017, APM was awarded a Royal Charter as part of its strategy to raise awareness and standards in the profession. The receipt of a Royal Charter marks a significant achievement in the evolution of project management. There are a number of ways in which you can benefit from what we do, including:

- membership
- qualifications
- publications
- events

The award-winning association has over 26,000 individual members and 500 organisations participating in the Corporate Partnership Programme making it the largest professional body of its kind in Europe.

APM Strategy

The APM strategy reflects the recent transition to the chartered body for the project profession. Awarded to APM in April 2017, the Royal Charter provides the profession with a platform to raise awareness of our skills, improve standards and develop our practice for the benefit of all.

APM continues to change in order to meet the challenges of a complex and dynamic world. APM believes this rapidly changing environment calls for a more adaptive project management approach, which is more inclusive and responsive to the needs of society. One which builds a community of credible, capable and trusted professionals delivering positive, effective change across all sectors and to all stakeholders.

A world in which all projects succeed with project management as a life skill for all.

Our vision for the profession is ambitious, challenging and radical. Above all, it reflects what society expects: A world in which all projects succeed.

We cannot deliver this vision alone.

Inspiring communities to deliver meaningful change for societal benefit by advancing the art, science, theory and practice of project management

The APM mission, our purpose, is to inspire communities who are engaged in delivering meaningful change to apply the art, science, theory and practice of project management. Equally, APM is committed to advancing our collective knowledge and, in doing so, contribute directly to achieving our vision.

Our mission is underpinned by five key objectives, which set out a clear direction of travel for APM.

Chartered standard

Successfully position, develop and launch the chartered standard to become the accepted benchmark standard for project professionals.

Membership growth

Accelerate the growth, diversity and global reach of APM's membership by engaging with new sectors and communities.

Knowledge and research

Advance the art, science, theory and practice of project management with an innovative knowledge and research programme.

Organisational innovation

Define and build APM as the model of a sustainable professional body for the 21st century.

Collaborate and engage

Accelerate the universal adoption of project management by people delivering change through collaboration and partnerships.

Five Dimensions of Professionalism

The APM, the chartered body for the project profession, supports professional values. The APM FIVE Dimensions of Professionalism provide a framework that helps you develop your career.

Breadth

The APM Body of Knowledge defines the knowledge needed to manage any kind of project. It underpins many project management standards and methods including the National Occupational Standards in Project Management.

Depth

The APM Competence Framework provides a guide to project management competences. It is part of your professional toolkit; mapping levels of knowledge and experience to help you progress your skills and abilities.

Achievement

APM qualifications take your career in new and exciting directions. They are recognised across the profession and aligned with IPMA's 4 level Certification Program.

Commitment

Continuing Professional Development helps develop your project management practice. A targeted development plan will enhance your project management career.

Accountability

The APM Code of Professional Conduct outlines the ethical practice expected of a professional. Becoming an APM member shows your commitment to the Code and sets you apart from others.

Body of Knowledge

The APM Body of Knowledge (<https://www.apm.org.uk/body-of-knowledge/>) defines the breadth of the project, programme and portfolio management profession. It makes up one of the FIVE Dimensions of Professionalism.

The APM Body of Knowledge definitions can be found on the APM Knowledge site (knowledge.apm.org.uk) broken down into the 69 topic areas which are contained in the full text. Topics are divided over four sections; context, people, delivery, and interfaces.

APM Competency Framework

The APM Competence Framework (<https://www.apm.org.uk/resources/find-a-resource/competence-framework/>) sets out the competences required for effective project, programme, portfolio management and project management office (PMO). The framework consists of 27 competences based around outcomes that project professionals need to achieve. Each competence includes a series of criteria covering knowledge and the application. It also includes a Ratings Scale, a simple 5-point scoring system for assessing performance against the application and knowledge criteria (aware, practiced, competent, proficient and expert).

The marking schedule for this year's Project Challenge will have alignment with the competency framework at its heart and this should be used as a core reference for teams undertaking it.

The winners of the 8th APM Scotland Project Challenge 2017/2018 were Team Innovation in Mind from Babcock Marine

Project Theme

The theme for this year's Project Challenge is innovation while benefiting a charitable organisation or community based project.

Participating teams are expected to define, plan and deliver a project that demonstrates creativity and ingenuity while benefiting their selected charity or community based project. The benefit is usually in the form of fundraising, but can take other forms. The project must show adherence to project management best practices in line with APM project management principles.

The teams that make it to the final will be invited to share their experiences with fellow professionals from across the profession culminating with the announcement of the winning team at our annual awards dinner in May 2019.

There are lots of ways to demonstrate innovation through several aspects of your project, examples of good innovation from the past include an interactive virtual reality game and a weather balloon delivering personal wishes to the upper atmosphere in relation to funds raised. We like to promote innovation in our projects so although traditional methods such as a charity auction or a coffee morning can raise good money; we would like to see new ideas in how these can be done in new and innovative ways. Remember the judges are looking for signs of innovative thinking in other ways also – have you put thought into the rationale behind your chosen charity and is it aligned with your project objectives or have you just plumped for the charity of the year supported by your company?

Project teams are not obliged to accept the advice provided. The mentor should also strategically assess and monitor progress and give advice for effectiveness and efficiency. Mentors should not provide solutions, but ask questions to stimulate the project team's own thinking and development of their own solutions. Mentors are responsible for ensuring that each team runs a unique style of project.

The project team should choose the interface with the mentor; how often to meet, format of meeting and communications and focus. The mentor should agree this interface programme with the team as soon as possible.

As a guide the following would be a suggested minimum interface programme:

- Initial meeting
- 2nd interim report review

Mentors should be realistic as to how much time they can devote to the team.

APM Scotland Branch Competitions Committee

The Competitions Committee's main role is to supervise the running of the competition. They should provide levelling control on the input of mentors to ensure that they offer similar times to mentees, although the offer may not be taken up.

The Competitions Committee is to provide governance for the competition and the project teams and ensure that all parties deliver their own component parts. This should include but is not limited to:

- Access to a suitable mentor
- Timely provision of funding
- Maximise publicity
- Provide clarification to mentors regarding their role

Project Teams

Project teams are to deliver a project with SMART objectives (specific, measurable, attainable, realistic, timely) and of sufficient complexity in line with this year's challenge theme.

In addition Project teams will be expected to:

- Abide by the competition rules at all times
- Provide a robust business case

Where there are concerns about the project, the team's first point of contact should be with the mentor.

Where there are concerns about your mentor the first point of contact should be with the mentor to raise your concern and jointly come to a resolution. If this is unsuccessful then the concerns should be raised to the Competition Committee by email: SPMC@apm-scotland.org.uk.
