Jon	Broome	Full	Chair of the SIG for the last 10 years, bar one year. Expert on NEC forms and contract strategy.	I'm a C&P geek ! I like learning and being of service.	Knowledge, enthusiasm & experience both of C&P and of how the APM works.	2 hours.
James	Buckley-Walker	Full	I have comprehensive experience in the management and delivery of large-scale and complex projects for both clients and contractors. Much of my career experience covers live-environment projects within a range of sectors; more recently specialising in Science & Technology & Higher Education projects, as well as experience in Commercial, Hospitality & Retail projects. I am currently a Partner of 3PM, which is a Portfolio, Programme and Project Management consultancy based in London. I am personally responsible for the management of several key client accounts and frameworks; providing strategic advisory in contracts and procurement and	I have been a C&P SIG committee member for two years now and have enjoyed my time as part of the eclectic and diverse group of contracts and procurement professionals. I have gained useful partaking in and organising the group's events and talks and have added value from my experience. I have also used my learnings from the group to impart this knowledge for the benefit of our 3PM and project teams.	I believe I bring a different perspective to the group from a pure construction background within the diverse group. We deliver our varied schemes by dynamic procurement strategies which I believe I can bring our forward-thinking approach to the group's events and publications.	1 hour per week hands-on delivery to our clients for major capital developments within their portfolios.

Olubukola	Feyisetan	Fellow	I have a growing interest in contracts and procurement as a consequence of my role within a high-profile Portfolio Management Office. I am learning and continue to learn about methods and outcomes on the implementation of processes and procedures in procurement. I attend APM CPD events on contracts and procurement that have provided insight and knowledge on how to secure delivery through vendors as well as understanding supply chain relationships.	I am putting myself forward for election as a Contracts and Procurement SIG committee member because of the opportunities that it would offer me - to contribute and participate in discussions on the latest thinking in contracts and procurement. Also, I would be learning from peers outside of my organisation and sharing experiences in an open and informal environment.	I work well as part of a team; leading and organising volunteering events in my local community. I have good time management skills and with my project management experience, I have delivered outputs to time, budget and quality. I have excellent communication skills : written and oral and I have received feedback on my ability to engage collaboratively with colleagues and influence better decisions. I am proactive, quick thinking and take initiatives. As a member of the SIG committee, I will add value at meetings with my problem-solving and creative thinking skills.	1- 1.5 hours within an average week.

David	Finnon	Full	I have and continue to work in specifying, procuring, managing and resolving Contracts in the energy industry.	As a current member I wished to continue in the work the SIG are doing.	I have a broad depth of experience and hope that my practical approach is beneficial to the group.	Up to Half a day
Alastair	Greenan	Fellow	25+ years of PM, Contracts and Procurement experience, multi billion contracts and procurements. Contributor/co-author of a number of publications. Regular speaker as an SME for the APM	Existing member - love the work, sharing and learning.	Extensive real world experience	1-2 hrs a week (50-100 hrs per year)
John	Lake	Full	I have 30+ years of Project Management experience holding PM roles within industry and government organisations. In my career, many of my roles have been intensively concerned with managing multi-million pound contracted project packages. I have achieved ChPP recognition for my PM experience and capability. I have been intensively involved with the APM Contracts and Procurement SIG since 2010 including holding both Secretary and Chair roles.	I have very much enjoyed my existing C&P SIG committee roles and wish to continue to contribute further to help others to improve their Contracts and Procurement Management skills by participating in the SIG events and from the related publications that we produce.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>* 30+ years of experience in Project Management</li> <li>* Learning from intensive and demanding roles in delivering contracted project packages</li> <li>* Presentational skills - I have presented at many APM events over the years</li> <li>* Authoring skills - Co-Editor of the APM C&amp;P Procurement Guide</li> <li>* Secretarial skills - Held the C&amp;P SIG Secretary role for 4 years</li> <li>* General competency in Project Management as</li> </ul>	Approximately two evenings a week plus my general promotion of the APM and the C&P SIG through my day-time working role as a PM; with more intensive periods of several days of SIG work where events and publications are being developed.

Kevin	Ruddock	Full	Working as a Project Manager in the telecommunications industry I have extensive experience in multiple countries working on major contracts in both a pre and post sales environment. With prime and sub-contractor experience I have taken direct customer facing roles in both the initial contract negotiations and subsequent management of the contract during the delivery phase. The contracts ranged in size from a few thousand pounds to in excess of £100M.	As a result of the recent APM Agile Procurement event in London I volunteered to assist with production of a whitepaper. Subsequent discussions stimulated an interest in becoming a more active member of the associated SIG.	I have first hand experience as both supplier and customer helping me understand the concerns/issues from 'both sides of the table'. The wide range of contract value also gives an insight to the solutions/opportunities available but equally where/why they may not be appropriate.	Can be flexible from a few hours a week/month to the occasional full day
Andrew	Thorp	Full	Andrew is a senior level Director at PwC. He leads the Capital Projects & Infrastructure domain in the Commercial Assurance practice. A Chartered Surveyor and accredited Programme Manager with circa 25 years experience. Andrew focuses on Energy (Power & Utilities) and Transport economic infrastructure and supporting major programme deals in Central Government. Andrew's contract and procurement experience has been gained from	I've been supporting the Contracts & Procurement SIG on a number of key aspects as a Volunteer, e.g. Procuring for Agile and Benefits. I'm keen to continue the work with the team.	Good appreciation of the market, and what's required in terms of effective and efficient procurement for major complex capital projects.	This will flex to meet the requirements of the team, and balance against work commitments, but I'm keen to make an effective contribution to support the ongoing 'leading practice' work
