William	Emmett	Associate	One of my biggest frustrations in the project management community is the opinion that Lessons Learned and the inputting of such lessons is what Knowledge Management is. Though this is part of it, I really want to spread the word and encourage the development of Knowledge Management in the profession and in industry. I have been informally discussing Knowledge Management over the last few months with the SIG, and would love to have the opportunity to contribute as a committee member.	I have been a member of APM since I joined the project community in 2015. I am also completing a Masters in Project and Enterprise Management, where I have specialised in Knowledge Management. I have a particular emphasis and bias towards the role of culture and personality in encouraging Knowledge Sharing and exploitation interlinked with having the correct technology and processes in place too. Joelle	Garden	Full	I'm very interested in learning and supporting the growth of KM in organisations, and supporting others in their understanding and practice of KM.	As a PM working on complex design and manufacture projects, it is particularly relevant for knowledge and information to be effectively managed, both within and between projects. I endeavour to create the best possible knowledge environments for my teams and always willing to try new ideas to support this.	1 hour average
Judy	Payne	Full	Along with the other founder members of the K SIG, I am on a mission to help spread good knowledge practice throughout the project management community. We are making	* A passion for all things 'knowledge' and learning. * Good networking, communication, organising and facilitation skills. * Combination of practical and academic understanding of knowledge management	About a day a week.

			progress but our work isn't finished yet! I am particularly excited about the SIG guide to KM we plan to produce this year and about BoK7: two fantastic opportunities to make a difference to the understanding of KM.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>* Determination to raise awareness and understanding of knowledge management in project environments.</li> <li>* Excellent knowledge management credentials including representing the UK as an expert ISO committee member, contributing to the P30 Manual and PMBOK, and eight years as a director of the world-renowned Henley KM Forum.</li> <li>* Experienced APM SIG committee member</li> </ul> On the practical side – 25 years' experience of working with member-based organisations; facilitation and event design skills; strong organising skills; online facilitation skills; time to contribute to SIG activities.
Steve	Simister	Fellow	I have been involved with the KSIG since its inception. As a SIG committee member I want to support how the project management community can engage with the knowledge community to tap into their broader experience and expertise. I see it as beneficial that we have a diverse but complementary range of skill sets on the committee. My experience is more project related but through involvement with the KSIG committee I have learned an enormous amount about knowledge management and have shared my project management insight with others.	I have been an APM member for over 25 years. In that time I have been chair of the Contracts &amp; Procurement SIG, founding member of the SIG Steering Group, contributing author for APM's PRAM guide; APM Bok 5th and 6th ed, the APM representative on BSI and ISO standards committees and am an RPP. Hence, I have a deep insight into the workings of APM and as somebody who works with a range of organisations I am aware of the diverse range of needs within the project management community. I have attained both RPP and ChPP standards.	About 3 hours a week.

Andrew	Wall	Associate	As a founder members of the K SIG, I am keen to share the good knowledge practice I know about and learn new things that can help myself and the project management community deliver better outcomes.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>* A knowledge of applying knowledge management theory into the working environment.</li> <li>* Strong network and good networking skills developed over many years and many different organisations.</li> <li>* Strong motivation to Learn and share good practice.</li> <li>* Strong background and track record working with volunteers in a professional environment.</li> <li>* Experienced APM SIG committee member.</li> </ul>	Realistically 3-6 hours averaged over a year
