

COLLABORATING TO DELIVER PROJECTS

Speaker:

Name: Dave Stitt

Talk Title: Establishing and sustaining collaborative relationships: learning from real life experiences.

Description: His talk will explore with the audience a humane and collaborative approach to leadership, where the goal for leaders is to create an environment where radical new accountability can spread in a team or organisation, so that great things start happening even if it's not the leader doing them.

Bio: A civil engineer, Dave Stitt rose to senior management positions in national construction and engineering firms, leading several company-wide cultures-change programmes during the industry's era of reform in the early 2000s. Since then he has coached executive teams and, on numerous big, complex projects he has been in the background, helping teams articulate out-of-the-ordinary goals and collaborate to achieve them. Dave is a proponent of "radical accountability" and what he sees as the ever-present potential to energise teams that are locked in stasis within existing project or corporate frameworks. His latest book, Deep and Deliberate Delegation, brings together a suite of simple techniques leaders can use to draft in, and sustain, support for crucial unplanned initiatives.
