

First name:	Surname:	Brief overview of your background and experience in this SIG subject matter: (maximum 150 words)	What motivated you to put yourself forward for election to the APM Contracts and Procurement SIG committee? (maximum 150 words)	What qualities, skills and experience do you think you'll bring to the APM Contracts and Procurement SIG committee? (maximum 150 words)
Jon	Broome	I have been Chair of the SIG for all but one of the last 10 years. Professionally, I specialise in innovative contract strategies for complex projects and the applied use of the NEC forms of contract	I like working with others to develop and deliver events and products, both to give to others and for my own professional development.	I know how the APM works, I know my stuff and I can write well.
Olubukola	Feyisetan	I have continued to grow my interest and learning in the contracts and procurement SIG subject matter as a result of working with great minds in the committee. The recently published white paper on 'Procuring for agile - what good looks like' and the APM webinar attests to this. I am committed to continuous learning about the methods, procedures and outcomes on the implementation of processes and procedures in contracts and procurement. The APM CPD resources on contracts and procurement i.e. webinars, blogs, and the Project magazine continue to provide insight and knowledge on the subject matter.	I am putting myself forward for election as a Contracts and Procurement SIG committee member because of the relationships that I have cultivated and the opportunities that it offers - to contribute and participate in discussions on the latest thinking in contracts and procurement. As always, I would be learning from peers outside of my organisation and sharing experiences in an open and informal environment, with a view to making a difference.	I have over 15 years of experience working as a project professional in Central Government. I am naturally optimistic and have good organisational skills which have served me well whilst working in demanding project/programme environments and in my personal life.
Alastair	Greenan	SIG member for 10 years, ChPP substantial procurement and contracting experience. Have given	Great place to learn and share learning on a critical area	Multi sector experience.

		numerous talks for APM on this subject and contributed to APM Contracts and Procurement Guide.
Ian	Heptinstall	SIG committee member for 3-4 years. FCIPS, and member of CIPS for over 25 years. 6 years working as a full time procurement consultant and trainer, to level 6.	To continue the work helping improve project managers to improve how projects are procured	Broad experience of procurement, not only in projects and construction, and not only from the UK. Experienced as owner's project manager, not only C&P specialist. A desire to improve practice in this field.
John	Lake	Having managed projects since the 1980's and up to the present day I have significant real-world experience. In many of my roles I have been responsible for managing contracted works within a main project/programme. As such I have been able to identify many of the potential pitfalls. I therefore wish to help others avoid these issues. I have also supported my experience by attaining PM qualifications, including ChPP.	Currently Secretary of the C&P SIG. I am co-editor and a contributor to the C&P SIG's Procurement Guide and I have presented at C&P events and recently in webinars. I wish to continue to contribute on the SIG's committee in order to provide advice to help others manage contracted works efficiently and successfully.	I have 30+ years project management experience with an accent on managing contracted works. I am an active project manager, currently working as a contractor within the MOD. I continue to expand my knowledge, particularly regarding the contrast between government and industry in management methods. ChPP qualified, I have a wide ranging understanding of P3 management.
Philip	Reese	I have contributed to this SIG for a couple of years including taking part in events and the production of the Guide.	Opportunity to impart my own knowledge and be part of a community where i can learn from others.	24 years plus working in contracts and procurement internationally
Jason	Sprague	I design and deliver large scale transformation which always includes a significant amount of commercial activity. My expertise brings together the challenges of complex procurement and organisational transformation.	I have been impressed with the work of the SIG and seek to extend my knowledge and assist the larger APM community in addressing the issues change where commercial and procurement tools and techniques are required.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - 15+ years of transformation experience - Insights into delivery methodologies as impacted by commercial issues (i.e. agile) - willingness to collaborate and wish to extend our community's knowledge - strong consultancy, collaboration and facilitation skills.

Andrew	Thorp	I lead the capital & projects business unit focused on commercial/ contract compliance, risk and control. This work is centred on major complex infrastructure spend, which relates to many of the commercial initiatives and points studied and discussed by the SIG.	I am keen to support the continuous improvement work that the SIG has been driving forward.	Commercial, contract, risk, major projects advisory, assurance, both UK & International experience
