Adetoun	Abiola	I work in the transport sector, (Transport for London) and I have been opportune to work across different projects and programmes, I help my organisation in making decisions about embarking on right projects and programmes to achieve mayoral and the organisation's collective strategic goals. I ensure projects comply with applicable policies and regulations through effective governance, active engagement of relevant stakeholders and adherence to relevant processes. Lessons learned from previous projects and programmes helps to shape the continuous development of more effective and sustainable portfolio. In the face of the current pandemic, I have been involved in helping to shape how projects, programmes and operations are managed in order to have a sustainable transport service in the capital and maintain a world class standard. The goal is to keep the capital moving, help customers make healthy and sustainable transport choices and	I am very inspired by my previous involvement with APM, particularly WiPM SIG. I have gained invaluable experience since I have been serving in the WiPM SIG committee for the past six years. I believe this experience and knowledge is transferable. I have learnt so much and still learning from different people that I may not have met in the course of my day job. My involvement in the development of a video to inspire future generation of Women Project managers is very inspiring for me. I find this very rewarding- inspiring future generation and helping to highlight the importance of project management as a profession.	I have developed a lot of transferable skills within &amp; outside work, also since I have been volunteering with the WiPM SIG committee. Having been on the committee for the past six years I have helped with organising events and preparing the SIG's quarterly newsletter. I have represented the SIG in other APM events, helping to build collaboration with other SIGs and organisations. I am able to work collaboratively across teams and people of various backgrounds and experience. I have also developed excellent communication skills and stakeholder management skills. These are invaluable experiences that has helped move the SIG to the next level.

		to continue to boost the commercial viability of the capital.
Petula	Allison	I have over 20 years experience in a variety of sectors helping set-up, manage and deliver change at the Project, Programme and Portfolio Level. The largest Programme of work was in delivering a £1.9BN change to business process, customer interaction and interface, infrastructure - premises and technology and operating model. More recently I have worked in the Financial Services sector and helped develop a Transformation Portfolio and manage within an enterprise of both BAU and Transformation activity. My experience more latterly is on the challenges in working in a hybrid or bi-modal portfolio with Agile and Waterfall methodologies and rethinking the governance and assurance requirements faced	I'm a previous member and co-chair - and although much was achieved in 2019/20 it was somewhat limited due to COVID 19. Hopefully we will proceed to being able to present and drive our Conference and extend our reach to Branches and SIGs.	I have trained in and have experience as a practitioner in Benefits Management, Change Management and PRINCE2. My practical experience ranges from Project Manager to Enterprise Portfolio Manager and more recently in a Federated Change model. I have been an active reviewer and contributor to The Guide to Portfolio Management developed by the APM SIG and the latest edition of the APM Body of Knowledge 7 th edition to ensure it aligns to latest thinking of Portfolio Management. I bring new ways of thinking and experience to help challenge and align the SIG with APM strategy.

Gemma	Parker	I have worked in project management since 2012 having started managing small projects and then working in a portfolio management office since 2014. I currently work in a change portfolio office in an HEI as a project manager. I have a keen interest in portfolio management and have been developing these skills by drafting materials to put in practice to develop a centre of excellence.	I joined the committee for the Portfolio SIG a couple of years ago and would like to continue that role. I have an interest in portfolio management and currently work in a change portfolio office.	I am motivated by the subject having worked and studied it. I would describe myself as having excellent time management skills and am able to manage by work and play an active part in the SIG. I have worked in project management since 2012 and studied project, programme and portfolio management at masters level.
Stephen	Parrett	My professional life was based in the financial services industry, from retail banking into change management	With over 20 years of portfolio management (PfM) experience, I joined the inaugural PfM SIG Committee in 2010	Extensive experience of the portfolio management profession and steering PfM development (project management and corporate-level portfolio management). My focus was developing and managing a range of different portfolio operating models (up to enterprise level), reporting to executive-level portfolio committees. In the mid-2000s, I was an independent consultant specialising in portfolio management, benefits management, and business case development, working in a range of private and public-sector organisations.	to support further development of the subject, using my own knowledge and experiences. It is a pleasure to be involved with a group of like-minded people committed to developing fresh insights and extending development of PfM for the wider community of professionals.	through various organisational cultures, structures and committees. Good organisational skills, adaptability and first-hand knowledge of a variety of change management environments. A good understanding of how the APM works through having been on the Portfolio Management SIG committee since its formation in 2010, being the Chair from 2012/13 to 2016/17 and co-Chair 2017/18.

Adam	Skinner	I am a career transformation consultant with 16 years of delivering large scale transformation. I have also been a member of the Portfolio Management SIG for 5 years and am currently co-chair.	I have very much enjoyed my time in the committee and am currently enjoying my time as co-chair.	I am a natural organiser and naturally inquisitive. As such I like to drive the organisations I am part of to deliver exciting and new challenges and agendas.
Tony	Whitmore	I manage the IT portfolio within a large research intensive University, and lead a team of project professionals. I have 10 years' experience in IT management, later specialising in project management before developing into a portfolio management role. I enjoy working to develop the alignment of a portfolio with strategy, and have recently been working to integrate the IT portfolio with the wider organisational strategy and responding to the changing world around us.	I have a strong desire to see the practice of portfolio management grow, particularly in the Higher Education sector. The SIG represents a great opportunity to learn and share best practice, and I am keen to reflect the needs of members in the group's activities. I was co-opted onto the SIG committee in 2018 and elected in 2019. I have enjoyed contributing to the SIG committee, working on the conference, the creation of the LinkedIn group and newsletters. I am committed to helping	I have been active in the project profession for nearly a decade, and have first-hand experience of managing complex technical projects as well as developing my portfolio management skills and developing wider strategic management responsibilities. I am organised, professional and committed to the job, with a desire to see portfolio management grow in maturity as a discipline!

			the group develop, so I am pleased to stand for re-election in 2020.
