

The Mike Nichols Award for Inspiration

Recognising inspirational projects, programmes and organisations, and their contribution to successful transformational change for the world and society.

The Mike Nichols award celebrates the legacy of Mike Nichols, founder of the Nichols group and Chairman of the APM from 2006-2013. Mike was an entrepreneur, visionary and an inspiration to all he met, he inspired others to achieve their dreams and go above and beyond. He passionately championed inspiration in project management, striving to inspire and deliver positive change in the world through successful projects.

To continue Mike's legacy of inspiration, we are thrilled to have the opportunity to celebrate and acknowledge what has inspired society in the last year. Nominees will include projects, programmes or organisations anywhere in the world.

Reason for nomination

Please describe in up to three sides of A4, why you have nominated this project, programme or organisation. You may include pictures or diagrams as part of your entry. Your nomination should include an overview of the project, programme or organisation and statements of how this has exhibited one or more of the following criteria, illustrating this with examples where possible:

- visionary and innovative
- have delivered or be delivering transformational change to enable a positive impact now & for the future
- have changed or will change the way people perceive what projects can achieve
- provide, or have the potential to provide, a lasting legacy to the benefit of society
- at the cutting edge of transformational change, demonstrating bravery and imagination

This category is a single stage written entry only.