Name	What is your membership level?	Brief overview of your background and experience as an Governance professional (maximum 150 words):	What motivated you to put yourself forward for election to the Governance SIG committee? (maximum 150 words)	What qualities and experience do you think you'll bring to the Governance SIG committee? (maximum 150 words)	How much time do you anticipate being able to spend on SIG activities in an average week?
Roger Garrini	Full	I have been part of the Gov SIG committee for 4 years and have contributed to the Directing Agile Change Guide and arranging some events. I am keen to continue supporting this essential part of the APM.	I have been member of the committee for the last four years and wish to continue to help the SIG. I think Governance is key to Projects successes and wish to continue to promote the message. I have been engaged with the SIG publications.	Several years in the committee. I am RPP and I believe that this is a very exciting time for the profession. I am familiar with most aspects of the APM and think that the SIG has a lot to offer. As I approach retirement from full time employment I will have a bit of time to promote the SIG.	Flexible as required.
Danny Trup	Associate	With approaching 30 years delivering infrastructure, I have executed roles as contractor, project manager and client sponsor. Good governance underpins all my endeavour and I continually strive for better. I seek the means to convey reliable decision making that is open to scrutiny and engenders trust and confidence. In my current role I have driven higher standard of governance and streamline change management, as well as facilitating clearer definition of my organisation's structure – roles and responsibilities.	I have practical governance experience to share and value the opportunity to contribute to enhancing our professions approach. I relish reaching out to encourage debate and innovation to improve and learn from others. I find significant opportunity from sharing and collaborating across industries, a unique attribute of the APM	Since 2014, I am a project sponsor delivering a major infrastructure project in central London, and have previously fulfilled key client functions enacting and driving appropriate governance. I am a Registered Project Professional and a Fellow of the Institution of Civil engineers. I am also a trained facilitator and have delivered numerous presentations and talks on project, sponsorship and governance. I encourage membership and involvement with the APM through my professional network not currently affiliated and have the ability to offer company support to the SIG. I enjoy and value the diversity the APM offers.	A few hours depending on needs, more for an event.

Sorrel Gilbert	Associate	As I am in the earlier stages of my career, my experience is mostly academic, although I have worked in a variety of organisations with different governance structures, so have an understanding of how they feel from the bottom.	I'm especially interested in governance as a subject and would like to get more involved and learn as much as I can.	I'm highly motivated and enjoy organising events, and finding ways to engage with people, preferably adding value for everyone. I hope to add some fresh views to the SIG, and work with the current team to help educate and inform anyone who would like to learn more about governance.	I'm happy to spend various amounts of time, up to a few hours a week. Although I would obviously make more time if needed!
Andrew Spiers	Full	I have been a member of APM since 1985, and have been employed in roles as PM and Prog Man and Portfolio manager. My current role is as Sponsor. I have set up programmes, and governance structures for control of medium / small projects.	I am currently a committee member and would like to continue the work being undertaken by the group. I am keen to understand and share best practice around Governance and specifically the role of Sponsors.	Managing, directing and leading projects over a number of years in a variety of roles. I was first a PM in 1985 and have seen a lot of changes, and with this experience I can share with the wider APM community	This is a good question - as it makes one think a bit more about priorities. It's difficult to put a weekly time on this as project work is fast moving with short term pressures. I would suggest a day a month.
Andy Murray	Full	I have been working in project/programme management for 25 years, with much of the last 10-15 years focusing on improving corporate capability to 'host' projects/programmes. This has necessarily involved a significant focus on corporate governance and its relationship with the governance of projects/programmes. I've helped numerous organisations across public, private and third sectors implement or revise their governance arrangements for project/programme management and I'm	I've been involved with the Governance SIG for 10 years, the last 5 of which on the committee as Deputy Chair. I've helped organise events, encouraged new members to join, secured speakers for case studies and contributed to our publications. I'm a firm believer of collaborating and sharing experience as a means of improving project/programme practice and hope to continue to do so as a	I'm a chartered director and therefore well versed in the requirements and practice of corporate governance. I've also been an author or contributor to much of what's regarded as project/programme management 'best practice' through guides such as PRINCE2, P3M3, ISO21500, APM Directing Change and APM Governance of Co-Owned Projects. I therefore straddle both the corporate governance and project/programme governance domains as well as helping bridge the theory-practice	2-3 hours per week on average (including organising and attending SIG events)

Latterly, as a director and consultant with The Nichols Group, Impact Plus, Hitachi Consulting and 3pmaxl, I have led teams and advised clients on major transformational change programmes in diverse sectors – e.g. construction, defence, police, financial services, utilities, oil &amp; gas, telecoms. I have also led project management capability improvement programmes. I particularly focus on governance, sponsorship, portfolio management and the role and accountability of the organisation executives. I have an MSc in programme and project management from Cranfield, am the current Chairman of the APM Governance SIG and have been a committee member of the APM Portfolio Management SIG previously.	delivering beneficial change outcomes in organisations. I have contributed to the development of the APM and thought leadership in a number of ways: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Being on the Editorial Board of Project Magazine for a period in the 1990s</li> <li>• Delivered presentations, training events and workshops at APM, IPMA, China PM Association and IoD conferences and event. Had a number of articles published in Project magazine and blogs on the apm website</li> <li>• Was one of the original members of the Governance SIG (Gov SIG) back in 2003 and have contributed to the SIG publications and SIG development. I am now Chairman of the SIG</li> <li>• One of the original members of the APM Portfolio Management SIG</li> <li>• One of the advisory panel members for the APM 2014 Factors in Project Success research</li> <li>• Member of the apm Agile Project Management working group. I am proud of my contribution to, and the development of, both the Gov and PfM SIGs and wish to continue to contribute to the Gov SIG.</li> </ul>	running my own. Hence, I bring leadership and organisational skills to the committee as well as the energy to drive progress and results from our investment of, what after all is, a voluntary effort. I am familiar with the journey that the SIG has had to date, am fully supportive of the published strategy and am keen to continue to make an impact working with fellow committee members. My desire is to both enhance the learning and capabilities of the APM members, but also to influence senior executives and sponsors that sit outside the APM community – and have the greatest impact on the successful delivery of project outcomes, in my view.
