Ashleigh Waters	Associate	I have held numerous Programme Management positions in my career, leading highly complex, transformative programmes of work. These programmes cover technical/digital solutions, business information and process re-engineering initiatives. Programmes include: Programme Manager for Counties Manukau District Health Board implementing the Community Central operations – spanning the entire health board and all community services – including a rationalisation and streamlining of all processes and technical systems across localities and bases, all admin, nursing and allied health personnel. Prior to that, I was Programme Manager for Air New Zealand, implementing the new safety management system across the organisation. This was followed by performing the Portfolio Manager role for the Flights Ops and Safety Team. At AIA I headed up, as Programme Manager, the operational business transformation programme of work which overhauled all operational business systems and processes in order to gain significant efficiency and productivity gains.	I am very interested in pursuing a formal career in Programme Management, ideally moving into a senior director role in the programme space. Having numerous years' experience in the programme space, and contributing to interest groups within LinkedIn and PMI, I am keen to contribute to AMP and the furthering of the programme management profession. I would like to be able to make a contribution and feel that I have some of value to add.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• I have 20+ years in successful project delivery, with the last 6 years or so at the programme level.</li> <li>• I have witnessed where and why projects fail - I typically get brought in to save broken projects where either the technical solution is failing or where the stakeholder engagement is low.</li> <li>• I have been able to successfully deliver these projects by being: inclusive, accountable, conscious and aware of the stakeholder and why we are here, respectful and collaborative.</li> <li>• I lead strong teams who share the same values.</li> <li>• I fundamentally believe that projects are not necessarily successful because we can tick the box on a list of requirements but rather with a very strong focus on how we deliver.</li> <li>• I turn strategic goals into actionable, implementation plans with clear direction.</li> </ul>	4-5 hours. I am not sure what is required but will happily put in as much time as required. I'd very much like to contribute to the SIG
Marina Morillas Lara	Full	I am an accomplished programme and project manager with over 20 years of experience. I have a multi-faceted career profile comprising diverse hands-on, advisory and expert roles along with the management of the delivery of major and complex engineering and construction projects and programmes with large multi-disciplinary teams within various Consultancies, Highways Agency, London Underground Limited (LUL) and Transport for London (TfL) presently. My current role is as Programme Manager leading a portfolio comprised by the 'Better Junctions Programme' (with 18 core schemes valued at £100M) and several 'Major Projects' (up to £75M budget each) in the Projects and Programme Directorate within TfL Surface. Previously, I managed the 'Pan-TfL Escalator Replacement Programme' with a total budget of £300M, comprising the replacement of 50 escalators among 14 stations for LUL. During my career I have also achieved valuable qualifications: MEng, MSc, MBA, CEng MICE, MAPM, Eur Ing, APMP and MSP Practitioner.	I would like to get more involved in APM activities and take an active part in this Specific Interest Group (SIG). This will enable me to interact and collaborate with APM members and other colleagues from different sectors to exchange professional experience, share knowledge and capture and communicate programme management best practices.	I am always striving for continuous improvement and have strong interest in lean, business improvement techniques with a focus on the practical implementation of best practices of programme and portfolio management. This is underpinned by my business acumen, strategic approach, leadership and technical background being a Chartered Civil Engineer. After having worked in both the private and public sector and acted as contractor and client within an international environment, I have gained an excellent understanding of the multiple factors impacting our programme management community and have instigated practical solutions and improvements when dealing with conflict, project prioritisation, resource allocation, strategic planning and change control achieving the successful delivery of relevant projects and programmes aligned with the organisation's objectives and sought benefits. I believe that I can bring to this SIG Committee both theoretical and practical project/programme/portfolio management knowledge complemented by my extensive professional experience.	2 or 3 hours

James Dale	Full	I am an experienced programme manager having led initiatives, such as Forensics21, a programme of national significance. I am an advisor / mentor, principally working with RPP candidates or developing organisational PPM academies. I am an IPMA assessor, APM accreditation assessor and the APM's Chief Examiner for its Practitioner Qualification. I am a longstanding fellow of the CIPD.	I have been a committee member for 10 years and its secretary for 6 years. I bring experience and continuity. I am stimulated by interaction with fellow professionals. This is an opportunity to learn and develop. This is also a forum to contribute to the evolving corpus of knowledge in this important subject area.	Many years as a programme manager and consultant. This is supported by a range of qualifications underlining my commitment to the profession. This includes the the RPP standard, a suite of AXLOS certifications, a professional doctorate in change management and an MBA with distinction from CASS business school.	Highly variable due to the unpredictable nature of my work. The important point is I believe I can contribute and have something to offer.
Chris Yewdall	Associate	An experienced programme management consultant with a proven track record of delivering key organisational transformations and £multi-million programmes for blue chip organisations; currently leading a team of project management professionals to develop a project controls transformation programme across the UK Submarine Enterprise. Previous Experience includes programme management of several organisational transformations across both Rolls Royce and BAE systems, and Programme Management of the T1000 engine development programme.	Having gained years of Programme Management experience I believe that I can add value to the Programme Management SIG by sharing my knowledge and practical experience for the benefit of the wider PM community.	I bring extensive hands-on Programme Management experience underpinned by first principle knowledge therefore I can offer guidance and experience to publications, presentations, conferences and original thinking for new ideas. As an active member of the Programme Management SIG committee 2016/2017 I proactively contributed to the Programme Management SIG annual conference: with the help and support from my connections at Rolls Royce Plc. the SIG successfully held a 'sell out' event outside of London, March 17. Ed Wallington and I jointly delivered the APM introduction to Programme Management event held in York, Jan 17. I have, and intend to continue to take a leading role in the Programme Management SIG committee 'corporate workstream'.	On average I intend to spend 2 hours a week with increased periods of activity for specific events.
Alan Macklin	Full	Project/Programme/Portfolio sponsor & manager for 20 years of my 34 in Ministry of Defence. Neil McCrimmon	Full	14 years in Project and Programme Management, the last 2 being in £3bn+ complex UK infrastructure programmes.	I would like to help shape the direction of the profession, grow my programme management network and give back to the APM by providing my time to help take the profession forward.	14 years complex project and programme mgt experience. Member of APM Prog M SIG in 2016/17; newsletter editor and annual conference speaker co-ordinator. Enthusiasm, support, pragmatism and a desire to make things happen for the good of the profession.	2 hours
Penny Pullan	Full	I worked as a programme manager and passed MSP while still working at my last corporate employer over a decade ago. Since then, I have worked around the world, working with programme managers and others via my own consultancy.	I have been on the Programme Management SIG Committee for a couple of years and have been secretary for the last few months. With the Chair resigning, it makes sense to have some continuity and I'd like to continue with the committee.	Insight given my professional position, experience as a writer, lots of experience of programmes across sectors plus APM (I have served on APM bodies for the last decade).	About an hour

Alexander Edwards	Full	Oil and Gas sector Senior Engr and Project Manager, selection and supervision of subcontractors, fabricators and suppliers for subsea construction. Also high maintenance projects top side. Working as a PM for at least 20 years in CE and Energy sectors. Comprehensive experience in programme and schedule management.	To see how the control of programme management is progressing, pass on the benefit of my experience and learn from others in the same area.	A full understanding of the importance and flexibility of programme management in today's market, sharing experiences and knowledge of what happens when it works? and doesn't work. Combining the committee shared experience in a way that will benefit all members of the association.	5 to 10 hrs a week, maybe more depending on workload.
James Lesingham	Student	In terms of experience I have worked as a project support on a large SAP implementation programme at Babcock International supporting the work of the Business change and technology leads as well as the programme manager. I carried out this year placement as part of my university degree from June 2015 to September 2016. Over the past year I have also been working with the ProgM SIG as project manager for the SIGs annual conference which took place March 2017 coordinating the activities of a steering group, SIG committee and other key stakeholders.	Working with the SIG has provided me with lots of opportunity to really develop myself and skills with the project management of the conference as well as providing a perfect platform to engage in networking with other like minded individuals. As I leave university this is something that I would like to continue.	Having project managed the SIG Annual Conference over the last year I gained some new ideas to not only improve the conference but have identified ways that the SIG could better engage with the membership and corporate members which is all something I hope to work with the rest of the committee to implement and build on, raising the profile of the SIG and APM to encourage continuous improvement. Further individual qualities would include my dedication, time management and organisation all of which are key to balancing the volunteering work of the SIG alongside my day job.	I hope to get fully involved in SIG activities with the various events, contributing to regular blog posts and supporting the different papers where I can. With this I hope to spend around 5 hours a week on these activities although I also recognise that more time may be required where necessary.
John Chapman	Full	25 years in programme and project management, author of 2 books on project and programme management, contributing author to 3 further books on this subject area, 20 years a member of the programme management SIG	It is important to contribute back to the profession that I am part of, to be active in the promotion and development of programme and project management	Previous SIG Membership, contributor to the development of programme management, currently lead the Communications Workstream and dedicate time to promoting out ProgM, and would like to continue with this.	5 to 6 hours
Chris Beach	Full	My career started as a Chartered Civil Engineer and Project Manager. After several years delivering a range of infrastructure projects I moved into Programme Management in particular advising senior leaders on the best approaches to successfully gain business benefits from their change programmes. I have been involved in the delivery of Multi-billion pound programmes across Rail, Aviation, Water and Buildings sectors, most recently including programmes at Heathrow Airport and Thames Tideway Tunnel. In my current role, as Partner with Arcadis, I lead Programme Management service delivery and work across the organisation with a focus on the development of programme management capability, knowledge and best practice to meet our clients' needs. Prior to joining Arcadis I led the Transport for London Investment Programme Management Office providing oversight of the delivery of capital programmes exceeding £2bn p.a.	In the past I have supported APM SIGs through membership of the Portfolio Management SIG Committee, contribution to the Body of Knowledge and the development of the competency framework. During 2016 I was a Committee member of the Programme Management SIG and supported on SIG activities including events and Blogs. I am keen to increase the interface between industry and the APM and help support the sharing of Programme Management best practice, insight and innovation. Organisations are now generally recognising the benefits that can be achieved through a programmatic approach to delivering change initiatives and as a profession we need to create the knowledge, approaches and tools to enable greater efficiency and productivity. I am keen to play a continuing part in supporting the	I am a long standing MSP Practitioner and aligned to this theoretical knowledge I have extensive practical experience of developing and implementing best practice in Programme Management. I am enthusiastic towards the development of connected communities to facilitate the sharing and development of knowledge that will enable the value of the programme management discipline to be fully understood and adopted by organisations to bring tangible benefits. I intend to bring both personal programme management expertise along with access to organisational experience in the delivery of major programmes in the UK and globally.	Two to Three hours
