

First name:	Surname:	Brief overview of your background and experience in this SIG subject matter: (maximum 150 words)	What motivated you to put yourself forward for election to the APM Portfolio Management SIG committee? (maximum 150 words)	What qualities, skills and experience do you think you'll bring to the APM Portfolio Management SIG committee? (maximum 150 words)
Petula	Allison	PFM SIG Member for c.5 years. Over 20 years experience in public and private sector delivering projects and programmes and more laterly strategic planning and portfolio management	I have a desire to share knowledge and information across the professional network and ensure there is a view on the theory and practical experience base don best practice and lessons learned	Experience of APM, SIG and Branch activity - skills and experience in Project management and associated skill and topic areas
James	Campbell	After 26 years in industry, I have managed a diverse range of business and project portfolios. My current role as Commercial Portfolio Manager for a multinational Group in the Automotive sector sees me responsible for managing the strategy and governance of a $1.5bn global portfolio for vehicle programs. Prior to this I worked for the CEO advisory team where I created a corporate portfolio as part of the Group's medium-term plan. Although the functional and business plans always existed, these were poorly aligned and could not be consolidated or communicated with external stakeholders. Earlier in my career I redesigned and managed the $500m Engineering project portfolio, integrating it with the Group's capital management process.	Although I have been a full member of the APM since 2010, it's fair to say I have been a passive member of the organisation as the pressures of my career and family have left little time for personal development. During covid there was time to study and I found the portfolio management SIG the most useful given the direction my career has taken from project management and execution to organisation and governance. I believe there is no better way to get involved than to try and give something back. Having managed a diverse range of portfolios, I would like to add my own experience to the SIG, to grow the knowledge of our profession and to develop the structures and tools for others to use and hopefully avoid some of the pitfalls I have encountered on my journey.	My portfolio management experience is supported with qualifications in business administration and engineering, that are further supplemented through experience in M&A, sales, finance, supply chain and technology. This has given me a breadth and depth of experience to work with diverse teams on complex issues.

Osian	Evans	I have been working as a project, programme, portfolio management consultant for the last 7 years. Over the last 4 years I have been working in the portfolio management space across multiple clients - focussing on both the portfolio definition and delivery aspects.	I am passionate about giving back to the industry I work in. I have previously volunteered for the Young Railway Professionals, then transitioning from that to support APM SIG activities.	- event management experience (from supporting the organisation of the PMO SIG national conference in 2018, and a 600 person conference for young railway professionals) - industry contacts to help organise seminars - learnings from working with different organisations in the realm of portfolio management in order to drive forward the profession
Lloyd	Harriman	My journey in project, programme and portfolio management began when I made the decision to study for an MSc in Programme and Project Management at the University of Warwick during the academic year 2015-16. My academic studies within project management equipped me with a wide range of project management knowledge including methodologies, processes, and tools. Between September 2016-May 2021 I worked for a well-established IT and Telecommunication company; Telent Technology Services, as a Project Manager delivering a wide variety of projects and programmes predominantly within the Transportation sector. During my tenure at Telent, I spent a significant amount of time supporting senior executives structuring the strategic	My main motivation to join the portfolio management SIG stems from my passion for project management and my desire to continue to grow and improve the overall profession. I believe that my experience both academically and professionally within portfolio management will be an asset to the SIG.	My most natural qualities are associated with my interpersonal and communication abilities. These qualities have been proven within a professional context with the development and maintenance of numerous long-lasting relationships with senior executives over a significant period of time. From a skills and experience perspective, I have proven project management experience within industry having had full accountability and responsibility for a large portfolio of projects (value circa £30 Million) over a four-year period. Furthermore, my MSc in programme and project Management has given me a full understanding and appreciation for the entire discipline and how grouping of projects within the transport business to maximise return on investment. Since May 2021, I have been working for KPMG's Major Project Advisory team specialising in portfolio management and decision analysis predominantly across the infrastructure sector		successful portfolio management can significantly improve business performance.

Iain	Murdoch	I have spent 20 years in the international energy sector working for independent and supermajor operators and joint-ventures in the oil & gas industry, covering roles in engineering, maintenance, operations and project management. I have lived & worked in 6 countries (UK, USA, Netherlands, Norway, Czech Republic & Iraq) where I have managed project portfolios ranging from $5mIn to $150mIn in onshore and offshore environments including engineering, procurement, construction, commissioning and start-up elements. My project portfolio experience has always been in complex international and multi-cultural environments where the portfolios have been delivered in multi-year ranges within in a cyclic industry against a background of various social, economic and industry challenges. I hold an Executive MBA from Rotterdam School of Management (NL) and a Masters	Project management is an exciting, rewarding and fulfilling profession which I enjoy immensely. The additional challenges of portfolio project management is where the fun really begins and is one of the most exciting areas of project management. I have been very fortunate in my career to have had the support, guidance and inspiration from many experienced leaders who contributed to igniting, and sustaining, a passion for projects. I find the professional societies beneficial as a source of knowledge, support and inspiration in developing current and future professionals. Being an active member of the APM is a way to contribute to develop the profession further and to make a positive and far-reaching impact beyond my day-job.	I have experience of delivering portfolio projects in Volatile, Uncertain, Complex, Ambiguous (VUCA) environments through all project life-cycle stages of various sizes and complexities. This broad range of experience is strengthened by the multi-cultural and international setting where communication, stakeholder management and collaboration were critical to making progress. The cyclic nature of the energy industry also contributes to understanding the intense competition for limited resources requiring balancing internal and external influences and the associated decision making and tough choices of portfolio management. I have experience of serving as a volunteer on several boards and committees in another global Professional Engineering

		Degree in Electrical & Electronic Engineering from Loughborough University (UK). I am a Chartered Engineer.		Institution including member of the Council (providing strategic advice to the Board of Trustees), member of the Communities Resource Committee, Chair of EMEA, and Chair of BeNeLux local network. This developed my experience and competencies of working in organizations where volunteer and staff teams collaborate to advance the profession.
Gemma	Parker	I am currently a project manager working in a Change Portfolio Office on strategic projects. Previously I worked on developing and setting up a portfolio management office.	I am currently a member of the APM Portfolio SIG Committee having joined in 2018. Having worked in project management for over 7 years, I have developed a keen interest in portfolio management and enjoy volunteering for the APM.	I have been involved with the APM since 2017, firstly as a Wessex branch committee member and then as a Portfolio SIG committee member. I have an MSc in Business Project Management and I developed my interest in portfolio management during my studies. I aim to bring enthusiasm to the committee and I am prepared to get involved and help where I can. I have enjoyed being actively involved in organising the 2019 portfolio conference and am currently involved in planning for the conference in 2022.
Stephen	Parrett	My professional life was based in the financial services industry, from retail banking to change management (project management and corporate-level portfolio management). The latter	With over 20 years of portfolio management (PfM) experience, I joined the inaugural PfM SIG Committee in 2010 to support further development of the subject, using my own knowledge and	Extensive experience of the portfolio management profession and steering PfM development through various organisational cultures, structures and involved developing and managing a range of different portfolio operating models (up to enterprise level), reporting to executive-level portfolio committees. From the mid-2000s, I was an independent consultant specialising in portfolio management, benefits management, and business case development, working in a range of private and public-sector organisations.	experiences. It is a pleasure to be involved with a group of like-minded people committed to developing fresh insights and extending development of PFM for the wider community of professionals.	committees. Good organisational skills, adaptability and first-hand knowledge of a variety of change management environments. A good understanding of how the APM works through having been on the Portfolio Management SIG committee since its formation in 2010, being the Chair from 2012/13 to 2016/17 and co-Chair 2017/18.

Adam	Skinner	I have been a member for 5 years and am co-chair	I very much enjoy the SIG	I have been a member for 5 years and am co-chair
Isaac	Somana	I am a young graduate, who studied BSc. procurement and supply chain management in my first degree. I am currently studying MSc. Project Management in the University of The West of Scotland Paisley campus. In terms of results and objectives, I am eager to work with determination and with strong belief. I possess a proactive attitude and outstanding ability to encourage others and coupled with the zeal to communicate comfortably at all levels, therefore ensuring an excellent working environment for all working staff so as to ensure the organization's performance.	I am a young graduate, who studied BSc. procurement and supply chain management in my first degree. I am currently studying MSc. Project Management in the University of The West of Scotland Paisley campus. In terms of results and objectives, I am eager to work with determination and with strong belief. I possess a proactive attitude and outstanding ability to encourage others and coupled with the zeal to communicate comfortably at all levels, therefore ensuring an excellent working environment for all working staff so as to ensure the organization's performance. What motivated me to put myself for election to the branch committee is that project management is now dominating in the job market and me been studying project management	I believe in teamwork, effective communication, negotiation skills, coaching, problem-solving, and innovation, and me been having such skills would help me contribute positively and not working in isolation but rather as a group or SIG committee with one goal and objectives, would help me contribute positively to firm performance.

APM Portfolio Management SIG
Supporting statement from the committee nominees 2021/22

			and also been part of the SIG committee would help me shape my career goals and objectives to be able to handle a project to a successful completion, be able to come out innovation and also adopt new project methodology.
--	--	--	--	--